SUCH A GIRLISHNESS.

The editor of the Cincinnati Post wrote a very pretty editorial the other day about the girl graduate. He Miss Rhoda Bartlett of Athens said that, as she reads her essay, she is entitled to thoughts of high ambition, and that her pulse beats high because of her happiness. And then, atter it is all over, she goes home a queen, worshipped by her parents. Old "All Sorts," a practical and observing reporter gives this version.
